THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR.

Two Murders in Different Parts of Henderson Marked the Event.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 1.--Two murders, similar in the way in which they were committed, occurring hours apart and in opposite sections of the city, marked the close of the year in the criminal annals of this city. Axes were the weapons used in each case, one being fatal almost instantly and the other resulting in the death of the victim after hours of agony. At an early hour Sunday morning Charles Willis, colored, entered the house of Lou Bailey, also colored. They quarreled. Willis picked up an ax which was lying in a corner of the room and wielding it with both hands struck the woman a terrific blow on her head. She died at night. In the afternoon, in the other end of the city, Levi Childs, colored, was killed by Isaac Gibson, white, aged 17, the boy using the ax in the same manner as Willis used his. Gibson was under the influence of liquor at the time. According to his story Childs entered his yard and after a few words advanced on him with a knife. He grabbed an ax and with a fearful blow broke the darkey's skull, death being instantaneous.

MURDERED IN HIS SLEEP.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 1.--Murdered in his sleep, Richard Washington, a hostler, at the Mansfield stock farm, was found by the police with his head split open with an ax. His wife is under arrest charged with the crime. The police hurried to Mansfield place early in the morning in response to telephone message from Washington's wife saying her husband had been killed. A bloody ax and a dress belonging to the Washington woman, stained with blood and having the appearance of having been washed, were found concealed. She alleges that two white men entered the house, each having a club, and beat Washington into insensibility. The detectives have quizzed her relentlessly all day, but she adheres to her story of the killing. I. J. Curtis, master of Mansfield place, has moved and the couple occupied the basement of the house.

A. S. WINTON RETIRES.

He Quits From the Head of the First National Bank of Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 1.--The clearing of the national banks of this city for 1905 are the largest in the history of the city. The total clearings for the year were $33,240,675.01, while the total for 1904 was $29,881,415.88. A. S. Winton, for many years president of the First National bank, and one of the best-known business men in Central Kentucky, has tendered his resignation, to take effect the first day of the new year. A meeting of the board of directors will be held the coming week to act on the resignation, and, while no steps have been taken to appoint a successor, it is likely that W. W. Estill, one of the directors, will be tendered the position. Mr. Winton's resignation is due to a desire on his part to retire from active business.

Engine Hostler Crushed to Death. Lexington, Ky., Jan. 1.--Forgetting to throw a switch caused Sam Cowan, 50, an engine hostler, to be killed in the Q. & C. railway yards. Signaling for the engine to back to enter the track assigned, he mounted the real step. When the switch was reached the engine swung into a train of empty cars, and Cowan was crushed to death.

THE LEGISLATIVE CAUCUSES.

Apparently the Supporters of Judge Paynter Dominated the Situation.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.--When adjournment was reached in the democratic house and senate caucuses of the Kentucky legislature Monday night, the supporters of Judge Thomas H. Paynter, who aspires to succeed J. C. S. Blackburn as United States senator, apparently dominated the situation. In the house caucus a Paynter man was elected chairman of the caucus and a Paynter man was nominated for speaker by a vote of 29 to 30. In the senate caucus the Paynter candidates for chairman and president pro tem were nominated by a vote of 13 to 13. Adding the votes polled for Paynter candidates in the two branches gives a total of 57, or four votes more than enough to nominate Judge Paynter if he receives a vote equal to that polled by the men he put forward. His supporters also point with jubilation to the tactical advantage they have gained in organizing the two houses. Set over against these claims are the flat assertions of the managers for Senator Blackburn and W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, the opposing candidates, that a number of legislators who voted for Paynter's candidates will not vote for Judge Paynter for senator in joint caucuses. With these "cross overs" they also include six members who did not vote on the races for speaker and president pro tem. The Paynter managers, however, say that their candidate also will receive the votes of several cross overs. Neither side showed any sign of giving ground after the caucuses, the Paynter managers claiming his nomination in joint caucuses on the first ballot, while the Haldeman and Blackburn forces, which combined in an attempt to organize the two houses, steadfastly asserted that there would be a deadlock. The democratic joint caucus on United States senator will be held Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The republicans, who are in a hopeless minority, will also hold their caucus Tuesday. In the caucus of democratic senators Henry George, an adherent of Judge Paynter, was chosen chairman by a vote of 18 to 13. The selection of a democratic nominee for president pro tem of the senate also resulted in the choice of a Paynter supporter, D. W. Hickman.

THE WOODLAWN FARM.

E. T. Barnett, a Wealthy Mine Owner of Alaska, Purchases It.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 2.--E. T. Barnett, millionaire mine owner of Fairbanks, Alaska, purchased the noted Woodlawn farm from the heirs of the late H. B. McCauley for $62,000. The farm contains 300 acres, and will be operated by Barnett as a breeding establishment for trotters. Barnett now owns a half dozen choice brood mares and he will gather together a select group of stud mares and stallions and begin operations. The late Mr. Woodlawn farm was formerly one of the best known breeding establishments in the state, being the home of the noted stallions Artillery and Anteo.

Henry Jameson, 2810 Fourth avenue, motorman, cut in the face by flying glass. J. E. Stephens, 2810 Fourth avenue, conductor cut in the face by flying glass.

WHITE FLAGS

Bear Mute Witness to End of the December
Uprising in Moscow.

TROOPS OCCUPY PRESNA DISTRICT

Vast Majority of Members of the "Fighting Legions" Surrendered or Threw Away Arms.

The Last of the Revolutionaries, the Guard of the Committee, Surrendered
Sunday Morning to the Government Troops.

Moscow, Jan. 1.—White flags flying from a dozen factories in the tenement houses of Presna district where the revolutionaries made their last stand now bear mute witness to the end of the "December uprising in Moscow." The entire district is now occupied by troops.

During the night the vast majority of the members of the "Fighting Legions" either surrendered or, after throwing away their arms, endeavored to escape in the guise of peaceful citizens. Only the members who acted as a guard to the revolutionary committee of this handful Sunday morning furnished the last act of the sanguinary drama.

The staging of this last act was admirable—a snow-covered landscape, the small black residence with a tiny red flag fluttering from its gable, the end of Corbatoff bridge, black with the guns of the artillery, and a thin encircling line of the Semenovskiy regiment of the guard, broken only directly in the line of fire. Suddenly there was a flash of red fire from the mouth of one of the guns and a solid shot plowed through the walls of the house. A few spluttering shots replied from a window. The cannon spoke again and again until a dozen shots had been fired.

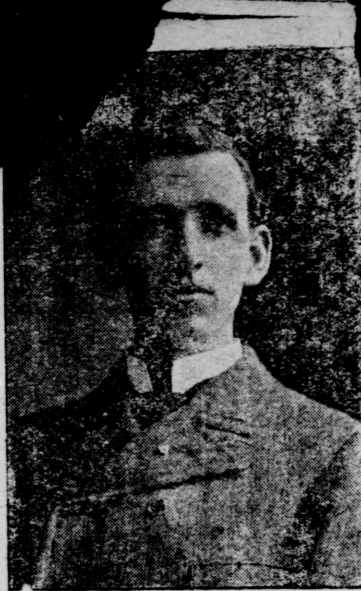

It looked like murder to the spectators on a hill and so evidently thought the officer in command of the battery, which ceased fire. A reserve company of the Semenovskiy regiment then advanced and fired volleys at the upper windows. At the third volley a white handkerchief attached to a bayonet was pushed through a shattered pane. It waved frantically and all was over. The little garrison of 30 marched out and laid down their arms, a strange collection of rifles and repeating shot-guns. All had revolvers.

Strange to say not one of the men had even been wounded, and when they found that they would not be immediately executed they appeared to be rather relieved that the end of the struggle had come. They gathered around the soldiers' bivouac, stretched their hands eagerly over the cheerful fires, and begged cigarettes from the guards.

The number of prisoners is being constantly augmented, most of the new arrivals being arrested at the bridges or at other points of egress in the Presna district, which is crowded with refugees.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The report that Com. White is booked for retirement in a few days is again being persistently circulated. It is reported that M. Drazov, minister of the interior, will be elevated to the premiership.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—It is learned from a high source that Premier Witte is again strongly urging the emperor to immediately grant a moderate constitutional reform for the purpose of reassuring the liberals that the present war against the "Reds" does not mean reactionary blocking the attempt which undoubtedly will be made when the national assembly convenes to transform that body into a constituent assembly. Moreover the plan has other heavy backing and the emperor is showing an inclination to accept it. The premier is understood to have informed his majesty that such an act would be a master stroke at the present juncture and might rally the whole body of conservative and liberal opinion to the side of the government.

KIND WORDS

From The Newspapers Everywhere

About Our Souvenir Edition

The newspapers generally have been speaking in very complimentary terms about our Special Souvenir Edition, which is duly appreciated. We quote a few of these issues, as follows:

Danville News—"The Mt. Vernon Signal last week issued from its press rooms one of the handsomest and most artistic souvenir editions recently published in Kentucky. Editor Edgar Albright is making a great success in the journalistic field and his numerous Danville friends join in congratulating him upon his successful efforts. He was formerly a student in Centre College. He was assisted in the undertaking by Mr. Joe F. Waters, who edited a special edition for the Harrodsburg Herald some months ago. The editors of that paper unite with us in declaring Waters a wonder as a special edition editor."

Interior Journal—"After mention in several papers had issued complimentary Souvenir Editions, the Stanford Interior Journal said: 'But the one issued by the Mt. Vernon Signal eclipsed them all, is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.'"

Quotations from a list of newspapers will be printed next week.
